

LINN

Uphorik: The most flexible, highly versatile stand-alone phono stage yet

A powerful breakthrough in stand-alone phono stage design which allows all turntable customers to fine-tune their system exactly as they wish.

Linn Uphorik is a truly universal phono stage that offers complete flexibility through its compatibility options, and in the process delivering Linn audio performance. Uphorik uses technology developed for the Linn Urika, the in-built phono stage for the coveted LP12 SE, and makes it available to everyone. It is for all turntable enthusiasts who constantly seek optimal performance from their existing turntable, tone-arm and cartridge, regardless of configuration both now and for years to come.

- Compatible with virtually any cartridge within any system via quick and easy adjustment of external switches
- Option to bypass switches internally with solder to further improve the audio
- Separate inputs and circuits optimised for any MC or MM cartridge
- Dual mono channel separation shielded internally to eliminate potential crosstalk to deliver clear, pure sound
- Balanced and unbalanced connections for greater flexibility (a new XLR T-Kable is available as an upgrade)
- Available in black or silver

Demonstrating Uphorik

There are many ways to showcase the versatility of Uphorik and demonstrate how to make a customer's turntable sound better than it ever did before. For example...

- Demonstrate within a multi-brand turntable system
- Demonstrate against competitor phono stages
- Demonstrate against Linto within a Linn system

Upgrade your demonstration stock with Uphorik and invite all of your turntable customers to experience the clearer, purer sound and unrivalled flexibility.
